
KEEP TO RIGHT
CENTRAL BANK

williamson centennial

Irvington's "town monument" was built in 1917, just prior to the beginni of World War I, by R. A. Griffin of Irvington, and his brother, Lee, who was killed in the war. ~~Mr~~ Griffin is a great-grandson of Timothy Rix, Irvington's first postmaster. The monument was ~~mix~~ financed by the Chamber of Commerce and was constructed to slow traffic at the three-stre intersection, Broadway, Mission and Bay Streets. A local child was killed just prior to the civic group's decision to erect the marker.

(back of book) built 1861,
At the left is the old Mack house, first two-story home in Irvington.

--;--

CAR FE

TRD JUL 8 - 1965

FREMONT — Though it's battered, chipped and bruised, the old Irvington monument has at least one admiring friend.

The "friend" is Gordon B. Lindsey, a Centerville district funeral director, who said today he'd be glad to give the city $1 for the damaged, but not forgotten, spire.

in

Received 1953

From collection of

Robert B. Fisher M.D.
P. O. Box 3388
Mission San Jose District
Fremont, Calif. 94538

please return 1996.3.6.9

Irvington

1 C

[1996.3.564]

Monument

DA w/ Sty

1996.3.6.9